Chapter 1 by Yutyut4

Ok so hello. I'm the one they call Nick. And It's been like five years now of travelling through hmmm... 20 universes? This is how its been working... So yeah.

Nick walked up to the sign-post to meet the one known as Gerry to talk about the technology Nick had created. Nick sees someone in the distance. The man pulls out a pistol. Though no regular gun, a modified glock. He points it at Nick's head.

"Are you the one called Nink?" The man says.

"Oh why yes, I am Nink." Nick answers back.

The man puts down the pistol and just stares at Nick

"Let me guess, you're Gerry?"

"My guess is as good as mine."

Gerry walks up the other side of the light post. They both start talking about the machine that could some how travel through universes. Nick pulls out the simplest thing imaginable. A gray remote with a red button and a long antennae.

"Well are we ready?" Nick says.

"My answer is as good as yours." Gerry answers.

Nick grabs Gerry's arm and clicks the button. Now they are in another universe.

"That was easy." Gerry says with a mysterious grin.

Universe de lamps.

They walk away from the light post that they had been next to in the other universe. A person walks up and makes a weird face. The person has a lamp shade over their head and a chain seemingly coming from their ear. Two bulbs light up where their eyes should be.

"It's Big- Shade! Big- Shade!" the person says.

A cop car pulls up with more lamp people. One has a rifle with a lamp shade at the end.
